HEAD COACH NICK MYERS

Nick Myers completed his seventh season as head coach for the Ohio State men's lacrosse team in 2015. He took over the program July 10, 2008, after three seasons as the top assistant for the Buckeyes.

In his first seven years as the Buckeyes' head coach, Myers posted a 62-50 ledger overall and a 24-16 conference record, with the squad earning a berth each year a conference tournament was held. He has led the Buckeyes to the first postseason title in program history, two Creator's Trophy titles, a share of a league regular-season title, a spot in the NCAA quarterfinals twice (2013, '15) and to a No. 3 seed in the 2013 NCAA Tournament en route to the program's first NCAA tournament game at home.

Under his tutelage, members of the program have garnered 14 USILA All-America honors, 34 all-conference nods and six conference player of the year accolades. Over the past seven years, members of the Ohio State team have earned 117 Academic All-Big Ten accolades, 169 Ohio State Scholar-Athlete nods, along with the first eight USILA Scholar All-American selections in program history.

The team's community service numbers rise each year, with the program volunteering more than 2,000 hours in the community the last four seasons combined.

In 2015, Myers led the Buckeyes into a new era, as the Big Ten Conference sponsored men's lacrosse for the first time. Ohio State, which ended the year 12-7 overall (3-2 B1G), advanced to the inaugural Big Ten Tournament championship game and earned an at-large spot in the NCAA Tournament. In the first round of the NCAA tourney, the Buckeyes went on the road and defeated two-time defending champion Duke before falling in the quarterfinals to eventual national champion Denver. During the season, the Buckeyes claimed the Creator's Trophy with road wins over Penn State and Michigan and topped three of the NCAA semifinalists while also hosting the Showdown in the Shoe before a crowd of more than 44,000 by the end of the game. Three Buckeyes earned USILA All-America accolades, as Jesse King and Robby Haus were named to the third team and Tom Carey was an honorable mention choice, while five were recognized by the Big Ten, with King and Carter Brown named First Team All-Big Ten. Academically, 24 Buckeyes were invited to the Scholar-Athlete Dinner, with 15 earning a spot on the Academic All-Big Ten Team, and Turner Evans and Christopher May both were named USILA Scholar All-Americans.

In 2014, the Buckeyes (6-8) shared the ECAC regular season title in the last year competing in the conference, posting a 3-1 league ledger and earning a spot in the conference tournament. The Showdown in the Shoe returned to Ohio Stadium, with the Buckeyes downing Michigan in front of more than 31,000 fans prior to the Ohio State football spring game. Joe Meurer was named the ECAC Defensive Player of the Year and led eight Buckeyes as all-conference selections. Meurer and King, a Tewaaraton Award Top 25 candidate, earned USILA All-America accolades, with King on the third team and Meurer an honorable mention pick. Meurer also was named a Scholar All-America by the USILA.

The 2013 campaign was one of the best in program history, posting a 13-4 ledger for the most wins for a Buckeye team since 1978. Ten of the victories were during the regular season, just the fifth time a Buckeye team hit double-digit wins before entering postseason play. The squad downed both Penn State and Michigan on the road to claim the Creator's Trophy for the first time. Wins over ranked opponents Loyola and Denver lifted the Buckeyes to the ECAC tournament crown and the No. 3 seed in the NCAA tournament. Nearly 2,400 fans - a number that ranked fourth nationally among all first-round sites - watched the Buckeyes beat Towson 16-6 to advance to the NCAA quarterfinals for the second time in school history.

Individually, Logan Schuss became the program's all-time leading goal scorer and a two-time ECAC Offensive Player of the Year, as well as the first Buckeye to earn first team all-conference accolades four times. Schuss was a second team All-American and Dominique Alexander, King and Meurer all were named honorable mention All-Americans, just the second time in program history four Buckeyes were recognized and the first time since 2008. Three Buckeyes - Schuss, Alexander and Trey Wilkes - were named USILA Scholar All-Americans.

The 2012 campaign saw the Buckeyes (8-7) earn a spot in the ECAC tournament semifinals after finishing second in the regular season with a 5-1 league ledger. Schuss was named the ECAC Offensive Player of the Year and joined Joe Bonanni on the USILA All-America third team, with four Buckeyes named to the All-ECAC team. Matt Kawamoto and Bonanni became the first USILA Scholar All-Americans in program history.

In 2011, the Buckeyes (8-8) earned a spot in the inaugural ECAC tournament. The team was 5-2 at home, including a 13-8 upset of No. 3-ranked North Carolina Feb. 19 in Ohio Stadium, the program's first win over a Top 3 opponent in history. A record 28 Buckeyes were invited to the Scholar-Athlete dinner, with a league-high 10 Ohio State players named to the ECAC All-Academic team. Kawamoto, a USILA

Honorable Mention All-American, picked up ECAC Defensive Player of the Year accolades and was one of four Buckeyes named to the all-conference teams.

In 2010, the Buckeyes (7-8) faced one of the toughest schedules in the nation as they began play as a member of the ECAC Lacrosse League. The squad had a 5-2 ledger at home, and highlighting the home slate was the third-annual Showdown in the Show when the Buckeyes topped Air Force with a record attendance of 31,078. Schuss was named ECAC Rookie of the Year and became the first Buckeye freshman to nab All-America honors after leading the ECAC in points per game and was one of two Buckeyes recognized on the all-conference team.

In 2009, his first season at the helm of the Buckeye program, Myers led Ohio State (8-8) to a spot in the Great Western Lacrosse League championship game after a third-place finish in the league's regular-season standings despite losing two All-Americans and four all-conference selections from the 2008 squad that reached the NCAA quarterfinals. Senior All-American Joel Dalgarno, who finished his career as Ohio State's all-time leading goal scorer and ranked second all-time in points, led the GWLL and was sixth nationally with 3.81 points per game. In all, seven Buckeyes were named all-conference, with two first team selections.

As the top assistant under Joe Breschi at Ohio State from 2006-08, Myers served as the offensive coordinator for the Buckeyes, oversaw recruiting and handled other aspects of the day-to-day operation of the men's lacrosse program.

In 2008, Myers helped guide the Buckeyes to a share of the Great Western Lacrosse League regular-season title and an at-large berth into the NCAA tournament. The team downed Cornell on the road for the program's first NCAA tournament victory and berth in the quarterfinal round. He was the offensive coordinator as the Buckeyes ended the season third in the NCAA in scoring offense (13.2 goals per game) and extra-man offense (45.7 percent).

Myers began his coaching career as the volunteer coach for the Buckeyes for two seasons (2002, '03) and was on the Buckeye staff when the squad earned a spot in the NCAA tournament in 2003, the first appearance in program history, and shared the GWLL title.

MYERS' COACHING VISION

I look at coaching as an opportunity to teach and impact young men who hold a burning desire to play the game of lacrosse. As a teacher I feel you must first seek to understand, before you are understood. The delicate balance of family, religion, education, lacrosse and free time in a student athlete's life are the backbone of successful teaching. Three values and beliefs reinforce my optimism that doing the right thing will prevail. The first is collaboration, the second is consensus, and the third is empowerment.

I understand the importance of building trust with players and committing every bit as much as they do to studying and learning the game. The common goal of sacrificing for something intangible is what drives a team and brings them together. It is a game that consumes me, rewards me and has ultimately shaped who I am. My driving force is to provide every student-athlete the opportunity to have this experience and to grow as a young adult. The student-athlete experience is not a four-year commitment; it is a life long commitment. There is nothing more rewarding than watching a young man come in open to new ideas and move on seasoned and prepared for the challenges that lie ahead.

To be the best player and the best coach you must be a student of the game. To understand the history of the sport of lacrosse, to study the role of each player on and off the field, to see the entire picture of each players' role and what they bring to the team's success is the legacy of coaching I get to pass along. I have been truly blessed with the opportunity to teach the game I love and a game which has impacted me in such a tremendous way. I cherish the rewards received as a coach working with student-athletes and working to gain a better understanding of the ups and downs of the profession every day. I rely on experience and an incredible circle of both family and mentors I have been associated with to guide me on this journey. Each day represents my continued effort to grow and learn in pursuit of my vision as both a teacher and coach. When all is said and done, this is the legacy I pass down to each player I have the privilege of working with that they take into their own future endeavors.

ASSISTANT COACH BRAD ROSS

Brad Ross joined the Ohio State men's lacrosse staff as an assistant coach in June 2014 and serves as the team's offensive coordinator and recruiting coordinator. A three-time All-American and two-time team captain at Duke, Ross spent four years as the associate head coach at Bryant after beginning his coaching career at Brown University in 2009.

In 2015, Ross' first year at Ohio State, the Buckeyes reached the NCAA quarterfinals after a win over two-time defending NCAA Champion Duke in the first round, with Ohio State scoring a season-high 16 goals in the road victory. The Buckeyes averaged 10.0 goals a game on the year and scored nine or more goals in eight of the last nine games. Senior Jesse King had 77 points, the most for a Buckeye since 1979, en route to Third Team All-America honors, while King and Carter Brown were both named First Team All-Big Ten.

Ross was part of the Bryant staff that led the Bulldogs to three consecutive Northeast Conference Tournament titles and back-to-back NCAA appearances. The squad was 16-5 in 2014 and reached the NCAA quarterfinals with wins over Siena in the play-in game and Syracuse in the first round.

Ross was a two-time captain (2008, '09) and three-year starter at midfield for the Blue Devils. During his five-year career with Duke, he was a part

He earned USILA Third Team All-America accolades in both 2008 and '09 and was an honorable mention selection in 2007.

Ross played professionally for four years before retiring because of medical issues prior to the 2013 season. In 2013, his first season with the squad, Koesterer guided Buckeye faceoff specialist Trey Wilkes to Second Team All-ECAC honors after he won a league-best 58 percent of his faceoffs, ranking 13th nationally. The Buckeyes won the ECAC Tournament and advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals. In 2015, when the Buckeyes returned to the NCAA quarterfinals, Christopher May was an Honorable Mention All-Big Ten pick and ranked in the Top 11 in the NCAA in faceoff winning percentage and groundballs per game.

Koesterer was on the Blue Jays' staff for the 2010-11 and 2011-12 campaigns and directed the faceoff personnel. The team made the NCAA tournament each of his two years, with an 11-3 overall record and No. 2 tournament seed in 2012. His faceoff staff won 58 percent of its draws in 2012 and ranked fourth nationally (.649) in 2011, with Matt Dolente second in the nation in winning percentage (.667) en route to picking up first team All-America accolades.

Prior to joining the JHU staff on the sideline, Koesterer worked for walax.com in Seattle, serving as the director of operations. The organization is the largest content site for northwest lacrosse and home to the Seattle Starz lacrosse program. While an undergraduate, he spent two summers coaching at All-American Lacrosse Camps in Colgate, N.Y.

On the field, Koesterer was a part of the Blue Jays' 2005 and 2007 NCAA championship squads. 2015 SEASON IN REVIEW

- The Ohio State men's lacrosse team was 12-7 in 2015, finishing third in the Big Ten with a 3-2 ledger.
- The squad's 12 wins are tied for the fifth-most wins in a single year in program history and marked the second time since 2005 the squad had 12 or more victories.
- During the season, the Buckeyes posted wins over three of the four teams that reached the NCAA Final Four (eventual national champion Denver, Maryland and Johns Hopkins).
- Each of the Buckeyes' last 10 games were televised nationally, with six games on ESPNU and four on BTN.
- The 2015 campaign was the first for men's lacrosse as a sport sponsored by the Big Ten Conference. Three of the six teams (Ohio State, Maryland, Johns Hopkins) earned a spot in the NCAA Tournament, with all three advancing to the quarterfinals.
- For the fifth time in program history, and the second time in the last three years, the Buckeyes earned a spot in the NCAA Tournament. The squad advanced to the quarterfinals for the third time in program history, joining the 2008 and 2013 teams.
- In the first round, the Buckeyes went on the road and posted a 16-11 win over two-time defending NCAA champion Duke. David Planning had a career-high six goals and seven points.
- In the quarterfinals, the Buckeyes fell at Denver, the eventual champion, 15-13. Senior Jesse King had a six-assist, nine-point day against the Pioneers.
- Senior Jesse King, junior Robby Haus and RS sophomore Tom Carey were named USILA All-Americans. King and Haus were third team selections, while Carey was honorable mention.
- King, who was also named to the third team in 2014 and was an honorable mention selection in 2013, is just the second Buckeye to be named to the USILA first, second or third team twice and the second to earn USILA accolades three times.
- The Buckeyes have had at least one All-America selection each year since 2008, totaling 18 in that span (two second team, five third team, 11 honorable mention) and have 25 total honorees since 2000.
- Turner Evans and Christopher May were named Scholar All-Americans by the USILA. The USILA Scholar All-America program was established in 1989 to recognize student-athletes with senior standing from USILA member institutions who have distinguished themselves academically, athletically and as citizens of their communities. This marks the fourth year in a row with at least one Buckeye on the USILA list.
- Senior Jesse King led the Buckeyes with 42 goals, 35 assists and 77 points in 2015. It was the fourth-most points for a Buckeye in a single season and the most for a Buckeye since 1979. His 35 assists tie for the fourth-most in a single year and tie for the most since 1979.
- King ended his career with 119 goals and 208 points, ranking fourth in program history in both categories, while his 89 assists are the fifth-most for a Buckeye all-time. He had a point in 59 of the 64 games he played as a Buckeye, including at least one in 53 of his last 54 outings.
- Junior Carter Brown hit the 100-point mark at Towson and ended his third year with the Scarlet and Gray with 86 goals, 46 assists and 132 points to tie for 16th in program history.
- Christopher May, who won 10 or more faceoffs in 12 games, had 133 groundballs, the most in a single season for a Buckeye since at least 1999 (the previous high in that span was 75). His 7.0 groundballs per game average was also the best for a Buckeye since at least that time. May had 15 groundballs vs. Marquette, tying for the second-most for a Buckeye in a single game in program history (and were the most since 1988).
- Graduate student Christopher May ended the year 10th nationally with 7.0 GBs per game and 11th in the NCAA in faceoff percentage (.603), ranking second in the B1G in both categories.
- Senior Jesse King was 21st nationally and second in the B1G with 2.05 points per game and 23rd in the NCAA with 1.84 assists per game, ranking third among league players. His 2.21 goals per game average was second in the Big Ten.
- As a team, the Buckeyes were 10th in the NCAA with .a .574 faceoff winning percentage and 12th in clearing percentage (.881), ranking 17th in team defense (9.16 goals allowed per game).

HISTORY IN THE SHOE

2016 marks the eighth edition of the Showdown in the Shoe, the annual Ohio State men's lacrosse game played prior to the Buckeye football team's spring game. Record setting crowds have filed into Ohio Stadium each year to cheer on the Scarlet and Gray and this year features a matchup between Ohio State and Michigan in a Big Ten Conference game April 16. The 2010 (31,078), 2009 (30,192) and 2008 (29,601) editions of the game mark the Top 3 attendance records for a regular-season game in NCAA Division I men's lacrosse history.

The first game was April 19, 2008, as Ohio State set NCAA regular-season and on-campus attendance records when 29,601 fans watched the Buckeyes down Denver prior to the football team's spring game in Ohio Stadium. By the end of the lacrosse game, more than 50,000 fans were in the 'Shoe as the Buckeyes closed out a 20-13 victory over the Pioneers in a Great Western Lacrosse League contest.

The following year, the Buckeyes broke their own record when 30,192 were on hand when attendance was taken during the contest between the Buckeyes and Notre Dame April 25, 2009. The football spring game went on to set a national attendance record of 95,722, with many of those fans in the seats before the lacrosse game ended.

The 2010 edition again broke the national records, as 31,078 watched the Buckeyes down Air Force, 10-6, in an ECAC Lacrosse League game. The contest was televised on BTN, marking the first men's lacrosse game broadcast live on the network. The 2011 and '12 editions of the game, with Ohio State hosting Fairfield and Air Force in a league game, respectively, also were televised by BTN.

The Showdown in the Shoe was not held in 2013 because of construction in Ohio Stadium, but returned for 2014 and was the first matchup between Ohio State and Michigan as Division I foes in Columbus. The Buckeyes downed UM, 15-6, in the game televised on BTN. The 2015 game was the first as a Big Ten Conference contest, with Maryland prevailing over the Buckeyes in overtime, 10-9, in front of a crowd of 21,604, with about 40,000 fans in the stands by the end of OT and football breaking its own attendance record with 99,391 fans to watch the 2014 national champions.
